Comment text:

My view is the Elms should remain part if the Wraxall and Failand parish. This is to ensure equality of representation per councillor and to sustain the rural identity of the Elms community. I worship at Wraxall church and consider myself as part of the Wraxall community. In order to sustain effective and proactive local government, our councillors need to represent our local needs and not subsume us into the very different and urbanised Nailsea community.
