Although it was necessary to have a large number during transition and it is good to see you intend to reduce the number of councillors, I believe you should cut further Almost 100 Councillors is far too many. I can understand that to create an "executive" you need 50% +1, but that still leaves almost 50 councillors on each side. To save further redrawing how about 49 Councillors which would be 24 and 24+1 ? That is more than enough to fill a reduced number of cabinet posts and meet the needs of committees.
