Related subject: The Elms, Wraxall

I have lived on The Elms, Wraxall for almost 30 years and the proposal to incorporate this into a Nailsea ward seems eminently logical and sensible. There are no facilties/services in Wraxall itself and facilities in Failand are a good 10 minute drive away. Conversely we shop, eat, drink etc in Nailsea on a regular basis and feel more part of the town than in Wraxall which is a good 20 minutes walk away across fields. I am far from convinced by Wraxall Parish Councils arguments and support the recommendation.
