Related subject: The Elms to remain in the Long Ashton Ward

To maintain electoral equality, the Elms should remain represented in the Long Ashton ward, and not be to transferred to the Nailsea ward as suggested by the draft recommendation. Moving the Elms to the Nailsea Youngwood Ward would reduce our effective representation per councillor.
The views of residents of the Elms that they are aligned with the Wraxall & Failand Parish appear to have been ignored by the review process. Keeping the Elms within the Wraxall & Failand Parish & represented by the Long Ashton ward would avoid confusion and the complexity of forcing the parish to operate a dual Ward boundary. The proposed recommendation to move the Elms to a Nailsea ward would also reduce our governance and the number of councillors representing our interests.
