I do not agree with the transfer of the Elms to Nailsea. We have more effective representation per councillor in the current ward than we would if we moved to Nailsea. We would loose our identity as we are more aligned with Wraxall than Nailsea which is more of an urban area. The initial proposal was overturned after overwhelming public response with the final recommendation that the Elms remain in Wraxall and Failand.
The move would
Create confusion with the Elms being represented by a Nailsea ward councillor who is more aligned with the majority interest of Nailsea than the councillors of long Ashton. The move would dilute governance providing Elms with one ward councillor as opposed to the current two long Ashton ward councillors.
