I am a resident in Sarisbury Ward. This ward has seen relatively little change and this situation looks likely to continue. The ward appears to have close to the correct number of voters per Councillor and therefore the natural boundary lines in existence seem to be appropriate with no need for change. For the borough as a whole I would make the following points: 1: Boundary changes should be avoided where possible as residents know who their Councillors are many of whom have served their communities for a long time. 2: There is an anomaly in the East of the Borough where there are three Councillors serving Portchester East. So contrary to my first comment it would seem appropriate to create a new ward in this area. 3. The likely growth in the Local Plan 2037 particularly in Welbourne (Fareham North and East) should be taken into consideration to make future changes in boundaries less likely.
