What is the justification for additional councillors? Except for 2 more pensions to pay into which means my council tax must go up, more information and justification is required to tell people why we need more people on the council. What are these additional members going to bring to the party? The count per member is already quite low. The commission needs to tell us the benefit on more councillors, other than the usual gaff of "greater representation" and "allowing more of your voice to be heard". Currently I feel the ward structure is sufficient to support the region, and new ones or indeed changing of the current boundaries would simply be a gerrymandering of the system.
