To whom it may concern, Great Amwell is a distinct community that looks northwards to Ware rather than southwards towards Hoddesdon. I note that Great Amwell civil parish has too few electors to form an electoral ward of its own. If the electoral ward boundaries for East Herts District Council need to change so that there is greater equality between wards in the number of electors per councillor, Great Amwell should be paired with the south of Ware or Hertford Heath rather than with areas to the south that are adjacent to Hoddesdon.
