Comment text:

You need to leave things alone and not change everything every couple of years. People get confused as to who they are under and what councillors supposedly serve them. People are loosing more faith in the system as it changes so often and it breeds a lack of trust in the governing bodies. Besides which you dont see your elected councillor from one end of the year till the next unless they are shouting about their next little project to get them maximum publicity to make people think they are doing a good job when all its doing is inflating their ego. I have lived in Everton ward for over 20 years and hsvc yet to see our elected councilor in the area.
