I am writing to comment on the proposal to change the ward boundaries for the Redditch Borough Council with the suggestion that the number of councillors being reduced fro 29 to 27 elected councillors. I currently live in Wirehill which is within the Greenlands ward although this area has also previously been within the Headless Cross & Oakenshaw ward in the past. In my opinion the whole of the Wirehill area should be reallocated to the Headless Cross & Oakenshield Ward. This is because the demographic of Wirehill is much more similar to Oakenshaw than Greenlands with its much expanded size in recent years,mix of housing with the addition of the new David Wilson estate (Whetstone Street etc.) and the already approved new building site on part of the Alexander Hospital site. This would easily be achieved by drawing the boundary down the length of Woodrow Drive to its junction with Studley Road or even as far as the Matchborough Ward. In addition if the final decision is to agree the proposed two councillors reduction an additional consolidation with Crabbs Cross Ward would make a logical move as this is predominantly a similar area of housing.
