Woodingdean is the forgotten part of the City in governance terms and has not been served well by decisions of the Council on roads, public transport, schools etc. It is critical that we have hard working local councillors to watch out for its interests and who live in the ward and understand it's very special features; arising from its hilly and outer City and Downland location. Woodingdean must not be divided into more than one ward or have its interests diluted further by being divided into more than one ward or by attaching parts of other wards that cannot be justified by their geographic and circumstance similarity to Woodingdean, merely for a numerical representational factor.
