I really must object, as a Bookham resident of 28 years, to the proposal for a new ward merging part of Bookham with part of Fetcham - and calling it Eastwick Park. Such an area does not exist and will be meaningless to many, whereas Bookham and Fetcham are distinct areas with their own clear characteristics and the residents of both will be loathe to see their identities disappear. It really does seem a futile, meaningless act to change the status quo.
