I feel as though year after year Normanton has somewhat stolen more land, Sunnyhill doesn't belong to Normanton, they're two separate places. Also Littleover's boundary should not be included within Normanton's boundary. Alvaston has always been known to include Bolton Lane & surrounding areas, Littleover has always included Blagreaves Lane and surrounding areas, Spondon has always been known to include adjoining Ockbrook. And Sinfin has always included Stenson Road & adjoining areas. I feel the area are being wrongly & calculatedly separated more so as to inflate a need for more councillors & claim land by councillors and inflate and warrant services not actually needed. We need less councillors, within Derby. In Derby there seems to be a distinction of councillors and their relatives collaboratively in power amongst areas which creates bias and unfairness amongst equal services. I believe fewer councillors with one main council committee, overlooked directly by the Government is better for transparency, unity, equality, services and leadership.
