Do not go ahead with this. Just an attempt to filibuster. The people of the local wards and parishes are happy with the current boundaries, there is no need to change them. The new boundaries will mean it will be harder for wards like borough green to elect their independent candidates who oppose the proposed construction of 3000 homes in and around Borough Green, a development that no local citizen wants to see happen. Only the Tory party want it, and this attempt to filibuster the electoral borders is merely a vain reflection of this undignified and unpopular desire to implement a development that local citizens have voted against in an election. Disgusting!
