I would like to object to the proposal to merge the villages of Mereworth and Watlington into a new Ward. There is no local connection between these villages, Watlington is more associated with Kings Hill Ward both of which look to Maidstone and West Malling as their main shopping destinations. The historic grouping of the villages of Hadlow, West Peckham and Mereworth are far more suited to their rural locations. Also the proposal to merge Hadlow Ward with Plaxtol and Shipbourne is similarly illogical there has never been any historical association of these areas, and in terms of rewarding it would create a rural Ward of such geographical and demographical size it would not be served well by its future elected representatives. Plaxtol and Shipbourne have more in common with the more Northerly Wards of Borough Green and Platt. Please could you take these comments into consideration when coming to a decision.
