I am definitely not in favour of the proposed boundary changes that have been proposed for the Astley Bridge ward and the new ward of South Turton. Astley Bridge has been a cohesive community for many years, and redrawing the boundaries in the manner proposed will in my opinion serve no useful purpose. The areas around Templecombe Drive have no connection to the new ward of South Turton and indeed have no direct access to the proposed ward. Residents in these areas shop, work and send their children to school within the current ward, as well as attending local clubs and churches in the area and Blackburn Road is very much the urban centre of the ward. Removing Andrew Lane park from the ward would also be problematic as the park is very much the focal point where the Astley Bridge community meet for major events, and get together such as the large Christmas lights switch on, and it is also where local community groups display artwork. I would like these proposals to be reconsidered so that the community in Astley Bridge is not split apart.
