My very long existence on this planet makes me highly suspicious of anything like boundary changes, someone up there doesn't like it and it would work better for them in another way.... Commissions headed by an academic likewise raise the hackles on my spine. I wonder who it is that wants it to be better for us? The only benefit to my local ward is that we would, at long last, be separated from Capel. I suppose, whatever else happens, if we get our village green back from Capel then I'll be happy!
