To delete the small Grangefield estate and place into Newtown ward is a very inconsiderate idea. Currently Newton includes the Newham Grange estate and as such the residents of Newham Grange often comment that they don't receive any support or allocation of the councillors budget as the Newtown estate its self is in such a high level of need that takes the councillors time and priority. To extend this further to include Grangefield is an awful suggestion. We will loose our identity and funds to keep our park and community centre in a good state of repair. Newtown has its own parks and needs, priorities, issues that are not shared by our current ward as our councillors are local proactive and have the Grangefield community at its heart. This change will see community divided, not only is this a geographically split already. Newtown may look close on the map but in reality it is poles apart both in need and issues. This is not a welcomed suggestion by everyone I've spoken too. Grangefield has been a very prominent part of the community and people who live here do not want the ward to be named Newtown.
