Comment text:

Patcham and Westdene have very different characters and are physically separated by the A23. Joining them together makes no sense. Also residents in the area of Ladies Mile, certainly those I know, consider themselves residents of Patcham, not Hollingbury, which, again has very different characteristics and needs. The proposals for Patcham/ Westdene/ Holiingbury are inappropriate and will not allow many of the residents in those areas to be properly represented over their local issues.
