Comment text:

The proposal to split Patcham and Hollingbury is not representative of the community. The A23 is a major road that clearly separates Westdean from Patcham, the idea that they form one community as opposed to the proposal to split Patcham by a suburban street appears to be gerrymandering as there is no logical reason for this split. Patcham is boundaries by the A23 and the outer boundary for the ward should be from the east of the A23
