The balance of Stratford District Council is currently weighted in favour of Stratford Town and West of the M40. Since the last review the major growth in the District has been East of the M40 and the site allocation plan means more than 50% would go East of the M40. Southam has taken more than 25% of Main Rural Centre new builds, in addition, Long Itchington and Bishops Itchington have also taken heavy housing numbers. It is clear that currently, the Wards no longer represent a fair distribution across the Stratford District. There has to be a fairer mechanism in order to give balance between the East and West of the District because residents East of the M40 feel abandoned and unheard at the expense of bias towards the more affluent Stratford Town and surrounding areas.
