The areas near Welsh border should have their own District Council. We are ruled by Shrewsbury, 20 miles away. Little consideration is given to these borderlands. Living in Gobowen we have to travel 20 miles to Shrewsbury Hospital or 15 miles to Wrexham Hospital, with very poor transport links, which means travelling by taxi costs a fortune. Oswestry should have it's own General Hospital with an A & E. Shropshire was recently awarded a large amount of money, but it appears that money will be used to tart up the water front in Shrewsbury. What about the borderlsnd? Given more political say, such as a District Council, could create better services and more democracy for the area,
