Comment text:

I don't think the boundaries should be changed. I don't see the point, and if there are costs involved with redrawing the boundaries then I consider it to be a waste of money. I don't see how having more voters in some wards but not having more councillors to reflect the increased numbers of voters makes sense, especially as there are some councillors (e.g. in Hednesford Greenheath) who currently don't do anything for their constituents anyway.
