It is disappointing that the considerations that have lead to the parish-in-ward-x recommendations are not substantiated by the key equality of numbers data, namely the number of electors per parish. Your parish layer map clearly accommodates such a data provision, but the display is universally empty. Without such core data making challenges to ward boundaries/numbers is hamstrung; a proposal which is coherent and conformant based on the other technical requirements may fail because of inequality. It would be useful to either include tghis data in your map layer or to provide a link to the West Northamptonshire data on which you made your judgments. Thank you
