Related subject: number of councillors

I see no reason why Gateshead has to have so many councillors. They keep complaining about having to make cuts to there budget and services having to be cut but they refuse to cut the amount of councillors 66, the second highest in England I believe.I'm sure if the number was reduced to the average it would save a significant amount of money.This saving could help towards the budget finances and stop some of the cuts the council are proposing.
