Gateshead has far more Councillors per head of population than all but one of England's 36 Metropolitan Councils why? I believe a streamlined council would be more cost effective, money saved could be spent on facilities that are either under review or being closed, such as our leisure facilities which bring about health and well-being to all. I understand many council functions have been removed so why do we need 66 councillors. I do hope a common sense and cost effective approach is used when reviewing I do hope the local Boundary Commission take my views into consideration. Thank you
