I am writing to object to the new proposed boundaries, with regards to the splitting of the village of New Hartley into Two separate council areas. This seems a whole illogical decision so split such a small village into two different council areas. It Will serve no benefit to the community, and in fact may cause detriment. If there is a miscommunication between the two councils and road works are carried out in two different areas this could cause chaos in such a small area. Also some councils may offer different facilities which could create animosity within the village. As the boundary is so small it would make more sense to have the whole village in one parish or the other, not both I.
