I'm in absolute disbelief that anybody, especially in todays climate, would actually even consider splitting a village a town a community for political gain or for any other reason whatsoever. These towns, villages have come together over hundreds of years and flourished into the communities we have today, yet some absolute dip s%#t thinks this is a good idea. Whoever it is should be sacked for the sheer contempt they have for someone else's community, for the hard work volunteers, councillors and others have put in to essence of what a community thrives from. Hang you heads in shame!!!!?
