I disagree very strongly with the proposed boundary changes within Oxshott. Currently most of the village is in the Hinchley Wood, Claygate and Oxshott ward. The new boundaries cut the village in half. It will no longer have single representation on the council. It will potentially split Oxshott's voice and the village's identity. Even the village's name has gone from the ward that it is situated in. This is a terrible proposal, I trust common sense will break out and this proposal will be ditched. If the boundaries have to be moved then at least put the new boundry around the edge of the village so it is all in one ward. It is the sensible thing to do.
