I am supportive of the move towards voting representation being approximately proportional to the residents being represented. However, having lived in the village of Oxshott for 40 years I feel a strong sense of identity with the village and its residents. I brought my family up in the village and indeed, some are still here and now bringing up the next generation of Oxshott residents. We are frequent users of the various facilities in the village - shops, doctor, dentist, schools and station. There is a real sense of community in Oxshott which, in my opinion is strengthening with time. I reject any proposal that will do anything to weaken the community or residents sense of 'belonging'.
