I am a councillor on Elmbridge Borough but I give my view only as a member of the public, the Esher, Claygate & Oxshott North division makes less sense after the Parliamentary boundary changes as Oxshott has moved from the Esher and Walton constituency to Runnymede and Weybridge. Oxshott should be kept together and/or put with other Runnymede and Weybridge constituency divisions. Esher and Claygate should be split with East Molesey and The Dittons and other Esher and Walton divisions if needed to try and tie other boundary changes in with these. What's the point of taking every boundary change in isolation rather than trying to coordinate them as best as possible with other elections/constituency boundaries?
