Related subject: Oxshott split in Elmbridge

Point 11 states in exceptional circumstances the size of a division can be changed to suit circumstance. These circumstances are not explained so this statement is not helpful. Why can Oxshott not be included wholly in one division, as maintaining a split village is obviously something residents do not want and thus it is an exceptional circumstance.

If that cannot happen I think it better that the A244 and this the high street remains within the division that currently looks after it as there would be continuity for the whole road. This could be effected by, instead of the fracture line being sheath lane then steels lane and along the east of the A244, putting it along sheath lane and then along Oakshade road and Siverdale avenue skirting Broom Hall to the A244 and along the West side of the A244 to the boundary with mole valley. This way the whole A244 would be under one councillor.
