I understand that North and South Jesmond wards are currently separate and are likely to be amalgamated under the new proposals for boundary changes, but covering a smaller area.

Since the focus of most daily activities are the same for both areas, and residents think of Jesmond as a whole, I think they should be represented by a single ward, covering as much of the current area as possible. If any area is to be excluded, I would suggest North Jesmond, North of Jesmond Road, A189, has more in common with Gosforth than Jesmond.
