I live in Lawn and Chisledon Ward. It seems very odd that this ward should be divided between Lawn, part of Urban Swindon, and Chisledon, a rural village. I don't believe it's possible for the elected representatives to serve both parts of the constituency equally as they will live in one part or the other and be more influenced by their neighbours in one part or the other. There is a mile or more of virtually uninhabited land (and the M4) between the two parts and a councilor walking from the south to the north of their ward could walk for nearly an hour without passing a house or meeting any of their constituents.
