Why are you separating a small number of streets and houses from one side of a dual carriageway and putting it with the other side? Surely a blatant massive road defines a boundary better than splitting a small side street! Our local councillor is great and I do not want to lose him and end up being banded with people from across the dual carriageway who have nothing to do with the issues on our side. We are a community and you will be splitting it up as we will no longer be able to use the councillor whom our neighbours use. Ludicrous idea!!!
