Interestingly, this has only been brought to my attention via a WHATSAPP group for our neighbourhood and I am concerned, that as a member of this neighbourhood, that we had not been contacted by Worcestershire County Council or LGBCE who have apparently been consulting with residents since 9th January - I must have missed it.

I see no reason to change the boundaries, that we, in The Gutter, have been part of for hundreds of years - the occupants of our cottage, when it was built, were scythe makers for Belbroughton and we have always had a strong bond with that Parish. We vote there, my son goes to tennis club there, we don't look for clubs/schools out of that area as Belbroughton is our village. He also attends Haybridge High School and we are lucky to have transport there - will that change? Belbroughton is our nearest village, which has the only post office, and doctors surgery - will that then change and we have to find another doctors, further away, because a decision has been made, by non residents of our local area, that they want to change the boundaries?

We walk into Belbroughton, we walk up the Clent Hills, that are on our doorstep, but not according to to consultation...

Woodvale? We've been living here since 2007 and haven't even heard of this area and so how can we feel that we are part of it?

In short - we disagree.
