I have been informed only in the last 24 hours about the proposal to change boundaries from BELL HEATH (BELBROUGHTON) to WOODVALE (CATSHILL) I am very much opposed to this as this will change not only the school attachments but also the school buses that drop children to school and back. We will no longer be able to vote in local elections at Belbroughton but will have to go somewhere in catshill no doubt. Has anyone given the elderly any consideration in this proposal as some of them can't get about as easily as others. Belheath is a parish of Belbroughton and we in the area would like for it to remain so. People of all ages congregate at local pubs shops and community halls we all feel it would be in none of our interests to change what is a beautiful community. There are a lot of people you and old anxious of the possibility of being forced to change doctors and and the drop in house prices that will accrue
