The proposal to include the Parish of Alvechurch with that of Wythall, and for it to be covered by two County Councillors, is inappropriate. Both areas are very different in as much as Alvechurch is a small village in a rural location and Wythall is more of an urban area with greater housing, different needs and issues which are more associated with Solihull MBC, its neighbouring Local Authority which does not come under Worcestershire.

Having two Cllrs may lead to conflict if from different political parties leading to indecision and action serving local residents.

If there is a need to adjust the boundaries, may I recommend Alvechurch Parish is re-aligned with the neighbouring Parishes of Barnt Green, Tutnall & Copley, Beoley to mention a few. Thank you.
