I don't think that Kirkheaton should be moved into the Almondbury ward. I feel that it is completely separate to the existing Almondbury area, and naturally falls into the Dalton "boundary". Kirkheaton is an affluent area in comparison with some of its Dalton neighbours, and moving it will surely impact negatively on the remaining ward as a whole, without offering a comparable improvement to residents of Kirkheaton. People of Kirkheaton access many community activities within the Dalton Ward, in addition to having their own thriving community centre. I feel that the Conservative group are seeking to absorb additional "beneficial" more affluent communities into the Almondbury area in the likelihood of increasing their voting majority.
