Comment text:

I am writing regarding the proposed boundary changes to Bingley and Eldwick, in particular the proposal to slice off part of the village of Eldwick and add it to Baildon.

I object most strongly to this proposal, it is ludicrous to suggest that the part of the village which is the original heart of Eldwick, dating back to the Domesday Book, should somehow be part of Baildon and the remainder of the modern Eldwick should remain in Bingley. Eldwick is one village, not two, and the old and modern parts of the village exist as one entity. To separate them will change the character of the wonderful community spirit which all residents of the village Eldwick participate in and enjoy.

Eldwick has no historical connection to Baildon, other than as respected neighbours, and this is how the relationship should continue. I request that this proposal be rejected.

Thank you and regards
