Related subject: The whole council

Please spend the public's money more wisely, rather than gimics.

If this is a cost cutting exercise, then great.

Like any business, start with the least amount of cost (less districts/councillors). Then if demand and the need is there, so should the evidence to increase the cost.

Do we really need districts of the town?

Whatever saves the finances to be put back into the public services I'd support
