Whilst much of the amendment seems very reasonable, I have specific concern about splitting Hemlington up. This is owing the the area's unique challenges with regards to anti social behaviour and policing. I am concerned that by splitting Hemlington up, it may impact councillors ability to tackle these challenges as a cohesive group, and risks a lack of consistency across the area.

I am a resident of a bordering ward, and worry that an inconsistent representation of the Hemlington community would have negative outcomes for residents in both.
