Related subject: Retford West & North

I live in the boundary edge between Retford North & Retford West. It seems a complicated boundary. At the moment I'm in Retford North. Where I am on Hospital Road it would make sense to be in Retford West. Looking at electoral figures this would make sense with the developments going on on North Road with the Retford boundary expanding. This would also bring this road more into an area where we have more in common with those around us who are in a different ward.
