Not been impressed with the North Yorkshire Council since it was unfortunately created. Services have declined, with the focus ever more on urban areas over rural ones, and what work that is carried out in rural locations, such as rare road repairs, are completed to a very poor standard, which is a complete waste of tax payers money. Whole Council should be broken up into at least three smaller and more locally representative councils, never mind these further waste of money boundary proposals. Should also abolish the Mayor, do they actually do anything except receive a taxpayers funded salary, don't see anything related to there activities in our local news, maybe they just focus on York?
