There is a strip of land running from Calder Bridge in the south right up towards Cockermouth which is between the urban areas with their Town councils to the west and the fells on the east. They all share the same issues of being on the edge of the National Park and also on the edge of the West Cumbria former industrial areas, and have local representation in small parish councils. I don't know if the total population is sufficient to justify a single councillor ward, but if this were possible it would aid the representation of this area on Cumberland Council
