Related subject: Fishergate/Fulford

In my view, the current boundary separating Fulford and Fishergate is not representative of the of the communities that live there. You will find that the majority of what is colloquially "Fulford" is actually inside of Fishergate ward, and that there is actually no clear point at which the two wards transition from one to another. The best spot therefore in my view to have this separation would be around Kilburn Road/Alma Terrace. Otherwise, it might also be reasonable to merge the wards together to form a three councillor ward, as the communities are largely homogenous.
